sing a song of dreams gone wrong.
i woke up and you were gone.
where did you go?
what did you say?
you never told me you were running away without my heart you left today.
i wanna go, but i gotta stay so i'm singing and dreaming awake in my sleep, it's been so long since i could see.
don't let me die in my sleep, don't let me live in this dream.
i keep singing the same song, the broken rhythm in my head,
the dying beats that play on make up the soundtrack to my death.
tired eyes with miles to go, lost my love and my way
home,
still all i can say is please don't go and don't look back.
hold onto the last words that i said,
a blackheart kid has lost his head.
the day is cold but my love is red, I'm without you, better off dead.
don't look back when you walk away he died of a broken heart today.
