now these winds take us away, to another place and
time, but in dreams as you sleep i'll find you through the darkness and the nite, so know i'll save myself for you, as you still wait for me.
this year my dear i'll live these days in memories and dreams.
and i'll wait patiently for you to find your way back to
me.
i've thrown away the fears of yesteryears for the hope
i've found in you, greeting times and trials with a kiss to seeing this one through.
two years ago i made a promise set in stone:
through days and nites, miles and time, your heart will have a home.
so we're gone with the wind and i'll wait patiently for you to find your way back to
me.
save your tears for me and let the fears die inside,
i'll hold you close tonite.
through the darkness and the light and all that's still unseen, here's my heart and here's a song for all you mean to
me.
