we're screaming murder,
so thank you hero for death of rock & roll, for relighting the fire in our hearts back to the days of bloodied up and broken bones.
side by side by side.
a stolen song and attitude, a lie you told but we've never believed you.
we're climbing walls and kicking down the door for the sake of a sound.
smile while you're winning because we're ready for a fight
and we won't sleep tonite if we can beat the pride and beat the prejudice out of a scene that has no history.
so smile while you're winning,
smile while you're winning and we'll hit the brakes on boredom
and start a revolution with a kiss, like this:
it's been going around, now it's coming around.
