It's not your fault that you couldn't hear me call your Name
But I wish to hell I could make this go away
I've played it all a thousand times inside my mind
As the wheels came down across the ground and stole your Life
Your eyes filled into pools of blood

We all know that you can't control the hands of time
Sometimes it makes it hard to want to let it go

We all know as we dig the hole
Your body lies in broken eyes
Beside the spot that held a soul, on we go
On and on through the lie that things get better
Sometimes I wonder why I feel so bitter
On and on the years go by, and I don't get better
Sometimes I wonder why life's so bitter, life is bitter
