

HeyMike! "Happy In Hades"

I finally figured out the days go on and on Won't find me worried 'bout what type of damage is done
There's no way to gauge the lives that passed before
There's no way to stay the same and not get bored
You can tell that it's all the same
But can you notice that ignorance is safe

And here, we pass
And disappear, still we pray
And still we fade
So go your own way

Are all the things we see designed for memory?
The past is trivial, a blank smile's all we can keep

Kick back, relax
Conditions clear, you still know
You can grow
So go your own way
