"I need to get away"
At least that's what you say
You're far too young to feel this way

I've fallen victim to your lips
And scars I adore
So let the dust settle

All I got are these black eyes
And they're bleeding most the time Blame it on the sleep that you don't give me (but hey that's just fine)
This heart is dancing in my throat
And there's nothing more to do
But anchor down and breathe

I'm falling apart at 6 in the morning
I've had time to figure out what you're all about
And I'll come clean with all these dirty thoughts
And wearing jungle cloths, defacing my entire house

Reside in clouds with you in mind
Don't want to let you down tonight
