Tonight, I met a boy, and he seemed quite familiar
Don't know where he's from, or what he's all about
But all I know is that I wanna be his friend Get to know him a little better, and maybe hold his hand
And as the night went on, he got a little sweeter
And after that, he had me wrapped around his finger

I used to tell myself I wouldn't fall in love,
Unless he was the guy of my dreams.

But here you are with my heart right beside me
Never thought that I'd follow through with my belief
You took a dream and made it so real
And I love the way this dream makes me feel
Here you are! Here you are

The rest is history, we got this down so well
That boy's my energy when all I wanna do is dwell
And I love remembering the night that we first met
That story never gets old, oh how could we forget?
I used to tell myself I wouldn't fall in love,
Unless he was the guy of my dreams

But here you are with my heart right beside me
Never thought that I'd follow through with my belief
You took a dream and made it so real
And I love the way this dream makes me feel

I never thought that I'd ever feel the way I do when you're around And on that ordinary night it was love that I found

But here you are with my heart right beside me
Never thought that I'd follow through with my belief
You took a dream and made it so real
And I love the way this dream makes me feel
Here you are! Here you are
