You say your heart is broken that my love was just a token

You say this partings juts you like a knife

But if you let it grieve you your youth would surely leave you

Cause these should be the best years of your life

I know it won't be easy cause your memories are busy
And yet you're still too young for all this strife

So let me tell you like a brother go on out and find another

And these will be the best years of your life

[guitar]

You say the taste is bitter because you loved a quitter
But I'm not free to take you for a while

You're lucky that it's over cause somehow you recover
And these will be the best years of your life

I know it won't be easy cause your memories are busy
And yet you're still too young for all this strife

So let me tell you like a brother go on out and find
another
