I'm watching the raindrops fall
Watching the shadows on my wall
I' tired and so alone
So many, many miles from home

The rain it reminds me of you
When it's soft and makes things new
And the thunder reminds me of the little fights we had The lightning was when you made me mad

And I remember the things we had Our love when things were bad so as the sun goes down and the day is through My love, I think of you

Yes, I'm lonely, a little bit at times
But it's not so bad as long as you write and send pictures and I can see how things are at home
But no matter where I am or where I've roamed
I'm watching the raindrops fall,
Watching the shadows on my wall.
