Scream The Rage

by Screaming Fist

(Not available on any album)

I will sing the pain, give voice to the madness

Of tearing flesh and unending sadness

Child, Scream the rage.

I want what you cannot, want what you never could begin to give me

Tell me that you lied, take it back, if you must apologize

Child, scream the rage

You cannot know, cannot begin to touch the anger, pain, and fury

Deepest burning pits of hell cannot contain the torment
I feel

Child scream the rage

Guilty in the first degree, of childhood and being needy

Sentenced by a Judas-court, the goddess-whore is judge and jury

Child scream the rage

"Reject it from the very start to kill the child's soul and heart"

Insanity the legacy of drunkard, whore, and pederasty

Child scream the rage

On the other side of midnight where the shadows walk and walls are breathing

Sacrificing innocence, Mother-Satan leaves me bleeding

Child, scream the rage

I want back what's taken from me

Innocence, trust, and purity

How can you rape a child?

How can you steal a smile?

The scars tell a story

"Mommy doesn't love me

"And this world, this society's

"got no place for me, no place for me"

I totally reject ev'rything that you ever put inside me

Throw it in your face, your demon-eyes, your lies, and pseudo-grace

Child, scream...

I will sing the pain, give voice to the madness

Of murdered souls and unending sadness

Child
