The real revolution starts within Lock down and caged, our lives directed
We just can't ignore the real reasons
We are just as much to blame as anyone else

Silence in apathy, we won't make a difference
How can we say that's not true
Stereotype values, intoxication won't bring about change
There is a reason to rejection, I feel it in my rage

A protest to insufficiency, a purpose to save and heal
A balance to recover the distorted picture
Words means nothing, action is what counts
When I comes down to it, don't count me out
