A role model so daring and bold
You were suckers for believing it
'Cause the problem is
The Marlboro man is dead

He died of lung cancer, what an example
What a travesty, commercially
Forced to habit in search for acceptance
Making truth about lies that is sucking you dry

You were suckers for believing it
What about me, the air I breathe?
What fucking effect will it have on me?
Unclean, uncool, unhealthy and unpure

At least show me some respect
And I'll show you some back
