I see you run the streets again
It's getting darker
You know your heart but not your name
It's getting darker
When all you have is a longely friend to get you through the night
You think that you'll never sleep again

Your shoulders won't break from the crosses you bare
I know how it hurts when you try in dispair
But when the world is wearing you down
A change is gonna come
Yeah when the worlds wearing you down
A change is gonna come

You're in the woods without a map
It's getting darker
You're longing now for what you had
It's getting darker
You think you're lost - the world is mad
But hear me when I say,
You'll find a way - the night will pass

Your shoulders won't break from the crosses you bare
I know how it hurts when you try in dispair
But when the world is wearing you down
A change is gonna come
Yeah when the worlds wearing you down
A change is gonna come

You crash and you burn but you can't run away
The weight that you feel won't haunt you everyday
The world wears you down it strips you to the bone
Go weep in the crowd friend cause you are not alone

Your shoulders won't break from the crosses that you bare
I know that you hurt but I'll always be right here

Cause when the world is wearing you down
A change is gonna come

Yeah when the worlds wearing you down
A change is gonna come
Friend
