"No Vacancy"

Right across the street
Misery is lookin' for a home
Right across the street
You know he never likes to be alone
There was a time I would have let him in right away
But there's no vacancy today

All the rooms are full
I don't need to hurt like that again
All the rooms are full
Of the love that she brought when she checked in
There was a time I would have begged him to stay
But there's no vacancy today

Lies a yard full of broken dreams
Right across the street
I hear a laugh that covers silent screams

There was a time I would have let him in right away
There was a time I would have begged him to stay
There was a time and that time will come again some day
But there's no vacancy today
