I made myself a promise sometime ago
Never again to give my heart away
Fell in love with someone who left me in the end
The price of love was just too high to pay
I thought my life had ended but you came along
And showed me how much brighter things could be Now you see I've turned my back on that promise that I made
Knowing that your love has set me free
Cause you were reason enough for me to go on living
You were reason enough for me to smile again
In a world where hearts were broken every now and then
One finds reason enough to love
Liked I've found reason enough in you to love again
So here I am all caught up in this new found love
Feeling like I've never felt before Putting my love on the line with you
Taking a chance again
I'm not afraid to love anymore
Cause you were reason enough for me to go on living
You were reason enough for me to smile again
In a world where hearts were broken every now and
then
One finds reason enough to love
Liked I've found reason enough in you to love again
Cause you were reason enough for me to go on living
You were reason enough for me to smile again
In a world where hearts were broken every now and
then
One finds reason enough to love
Liked I've found reason enough in you to love again
In a world where hearts are broken every now and then
One finds reason enough to love
Liked I've found reason enough in you to love again
