All that i am and all i'll ever be
is a brain in a body all that i know and all i'll ever see is the real things around me all i've heard is true

there ain't no god there's just me and you i don't see a point to this place but i'm happy to be floating in space

i won't mind if you're holding my hand and life seems so fine when you don't understand that the world turns around and it don't give a damn if we all die away and never come back again

live till i die and then rot away it's a beautiful story

i'm happy to be floating in outer space

if we all die away and we never come back again
