You never had something nice to say
Just crooked looks you always sent my way
How was I supposed to waste anymore time?
Close to the end, I take off again
But this time you know it's different
And I still can't believe I left it all behind

Dropped all those times we had
Guess after all they really weren't that rad
Still makes me kinda sad

Cold stone throw me out there
Disappear, wake up you're not here
Now I get to breathe through another year
Cold stone throw me out there
No so long, one day you're just gone
I'm the last one standing, movin' on

You made me crazy back then
After all those years you really weren't my friend
How was I supposed to keep hanging around?
So, I'm going home, I'm better off alone
And this time I know it's different
And I just can't believe you're not still in my life

Dropped all those times we had
Guess after all they really weren't that rad
Still makes me kinda sad

Cold stone throw me out there
Disappear, wake up you're not here
Now I get to breathe through another year
Cold stone throw me out there
No so long, one day you're just gone
I'm the last one standing, movin' on

Don't wanna hear you try to blame it on the chemicals
'Cause there's nothing natural in your disasters
Don't try to tell me that you couldn't get me on the phone
'Cause you know I'll always pick up for you

Cold stone throw me out there
Disappear, wake up you're not here
Now I get to breathe through another year
Cold stone throw me out there
No so long, one day you're just gone
And I'm the last one standing, movin' on
Never thought this day would come along
And I'm the last one standing, movin' on
I'm going home, I'm better off alone
And I'm the last one standing, movin' on
