Hear him on the radio, see him on the news
See him on the TV, hear him sing the blues
Welcome to his nightmare, he's been through the mill
Death by misadventure, dressed up for the kill

He stayed away from daylight, didn't believe in health
Never saw the sunrise, didn't believe in wealth
Wrote dramatic music, was a rollin' stone
No one understood him, they just left him alone

Hear him on the radio, see him on the news
See him on the TV, hear him sing the blues
Welcome to his nightmare, he's been through the mill
Death by misadventure, dressed up for the kill

Death by misadventure, (repeat to end)
