Brian and me
Well we both agree
That penny loafers are absurd
Cause I don't know why on earth
That you would take your two cents worth
And stick them in your girly shoes
And Dave replied,
"Well, after all, why not at least use quarters, so then you can make a phone call?"

It's finally time
Time for our victory lap
Assembled to be just one left turn
The matchbox tires spin out on the welcome mat
And the firemen are tired men who can't put out the rugburn
And they say, "Cut your hair short, and then walk through an airport, so you can dream of destinations."
Well, cut your hair short, and then walk through an airport
Cut your hair short, and then walk through an airport
While all the while you're singing good vibrations

You're singing good vibrations
You're singing good, good, good, good vibrations
You're singing good, good, good, good vibrations
(cut your hair short, and then walk through an airport)
You're singing good, good, good (so you'll cut your hair short, and then walk through an airport)
(we both agree)
Humming in your head
Humming good, good, good(buy me)
