There's something you should know
Before you make any mistakes tonight
There will be no escape once you leave here today
But you didn't hear a word I said

Was this just a sign of things to come
It's the turn of the season
And like a child who can only crawl
My next step is my first, I'll start again

Try not to look back
Forget what's in the past
Faded memories
Of what was my life

Outside waiting when I arrived
I can only hope this means you've realized
I'm not lookin' for advice, I just need someone who believes
But then you looked away

Was this just a sign of things to come
It's the turn of the season
And like a child who can only crawl
My next step is my first, I'll start again

Just as I expected there's no one who believes it can be done

Everything's not how it seems (x3)

Sign of things to come (sign of things to come)
It's the turn of the season
And like a child who can only crawl
My next step is my first, I'll start again

Try not to look back
Forget what's in the past
Faded memories
Of what was my life
