lie awake things will be better the moment you cant wake up by the way when did you realize we're better off without you you'r lying tongue cant spit filth now my how the weather changes hiding your knives behind your back to strategically place them in mine when you get home...we are now severed the glass has been broken for the last time pulling your tongue til it rips from your face you've always been ugly but not as nauseating as you look now i hope you slit your fucking wrists to save me the effort of writing your suicide note your inspiration world of lies i see your failure in my eyes tears burn an open wound burn away the memories of you tip toeing to avoid your selfish sob story after everything we've been through we've got to crawl...crawl back on our knees you left with everything you ever wanted you left us and now you get two thumbs up you're gettin two thumbs up you get an F for effort no more sunday migraines your eyes will forever sulk with all you've burned down you think your're so cool now cause she left you now and left you crying to yourslef and i cant help but laugh because you brought this on yourself again in this clip theres 13 ways to say your're sorry well there's nothing you can say to repair all the damage you have made all in all you'll never follow through with it won't you share your revelations your're ugly and no one likes you
