Where are you, my long lost love?
It feels like yesterday has parted
I held you closest to my trusted heart
Now the withdrawal seems to be starting

You're not like anyone I've known (I've ever met)
With you, I flourish into greatness
Extend my arms into a misty light
Making my future path seem weightless

Quiet undertaking of air promises a storm in you grew Quite an understatement when hopes of a season is hidden in snow

I should have kept you safe, hidden from approaching wolves

Where are you my parted son?
The last I saw of you was sinking
Into a giant hole of nothingness
As my desire started shrinking

Or if I choose to take you back (Swear I'm gonna make you)
If I stand up for my believing (If you can steal me, I'll come back)
Can we make up for all the joy we've lacked?
(It was the motion you were making)
Can we start giving and receiving? (I won't stop moving 'til we leave)

Quiet undertaking of air promises a storm in you grew
Quite an understatement when hopes of a season is
hidden in snow

Where are you, my long lost love?
It feels like yesterday has parted
