At a party on last saturday (Things don't always make sense ... the translation in this case is right!

Oh, but no ... there's another possibility ... the word being "Partie" - game - I guess that's it!)

I stand on the ground again

I search for an enemy (sounds a bit better) with whom I still get a chance to win the game is a typical "guest team game" as always, we're facing losing the level status

Just as it is the same

With the women for years now

Anyways, sometime she stood in front of me

I thought: now or never

I started to attack immediately but could not get into the mood the enemy's defence was too good many times I ran to the back and she made me stand on the position of offside

And I did not understand it at all

I tried again and again for a position to go into her/their penalty area (Everything's still about the girl ) chatted with nonsense to the free area

And with my certain drive to get on at last, I made her/them tired now, to break her/their defence line and goal, win the point was only a matter of time wohoo~ then as on the textbook [Meaning that it was just perfect, like it's always written in the textbooks] came my killing free kick ball

I had practiced for hundreds times and I scored it confidently but later on I was told

That the shot didn't count because, it is said

I fouled out
With too much alcohol in the blood today there it's not about doing great games anymore and nobody asks about that for a long time for football, the most important thing now is To score, even working with a crowbar amateurish teams act like champion league Where did we loose the standards the fun in these cumcumber games [Meaning something like: stupid, meaningless] is lost for long... wohooĩ½ž
