It's so hard to understand you've already made you plan i could see it in your eyes the story that you told was so harmful and so cold there's no way to compromise i'm gonna liberate my soul so don't pacify my role and my right, and my right ooh, i've got to take control as the future will unfold and take flight, and take flight standing by your side only made me realize that your truth was far from right oh, how could i confide in a source that must divide all the way my hands were tied
