Here comes the last of the wonderful humans They're pushed to the edge, so don't be ashamed to be one of them
Now where is our water and our feast Where is the color of our peace?
The sun is no good and the ice melted in silence If we'd done what we should we'd still have some balance
We have destroyed what was beautiful
We have destroyed what was pretty
We have reheated the same cold
Now there is no, there is no remedy
There is no remedy
I'm scratching the surface in a song but the cut is deep I can't start with where we have gone wrong, and let's not seek Don't waste my time with who's to blame 'cause we are all the same Let's try to leave something that came, long before the acid rain
We have destroyed what was beautiful
We have destroyed what was pretty
We're still burning the same old coal
Now there is no, there is no remedy
There is no remedy
I'm scared to bring someone into this world I'm afraid this is the end That's it I'm done with your profits, I'm sick of all this shit
Why should we change our lazy habits, the end is just around the corner, we leave nothing, no bright future If I'm not screwing you, what else am I gonna do...
