Somewhere through this cave I'm in Shines this light that's begging to be seen again
It seems the more I try and hide it
The clearer people can see
I could worry about the days of lost
Or enjoy those that I have left
It would be a sight to see
What I knew was me
When you look into my eyes
Everything's gonna be all right

I remember how that song goes reach to the sky or you'll never know no matter how hard it gets you better check your engine

Still I trip and fall give up and say "that's all"
but that's not me
I couldn't wake up knowing
If you pushed me down I'd stop going Sometimes it all seems to fall apart
Not enough yarn to mend my heart
And the record is skipping
Check your engine before you stop slipping
Full I feel there's something missing
Over & over the clock keeps ticking
Full I feel there's something missing
