These days, I may not be so happy
After all, after all that I have gained
I still feel sad when I'm all alone

I may have felt that path decay
I may not be so swift, after all
All the chances you have given me
I just let you go

These days, I may not be so happy
After all, after all that I have gained
I still feel sad, when I'm all alone

I guess, I've been like this before
Sometimes, I can't stand up and be a man
But God, why would I lose it now
When I need my strength at hand

You know, sometimes I can be real cool
All the words just seem to flow right along
But when that girl approaches me
Well, it all goes wrong

These days, I may not be so happy
After all, after all that I have gained
I still feel sad when I'm all alone

These days, leave me hopelessly lugubrious
I wish, these days would end, oh, please end

These days, I may not be so happy
After all, after all that I have gained
I still feel sad when I'm all alone

These days, I may not be so happy
After all, after all the chances you've given me
I just let you go, let you go
