Show me heavens melodies, gather me in your arms
Reaching out for immortality
A life to give to a dream above everything
Deserving all I ever have to give

Abandonment on you and I will fall too
Yet when Im giving in another part decays

A lonely soul, a life of warmth
Wandering on every path
Poets eyes on greater truth
Trapped in precious little loves

Show me lively fantasies and release me with your words
Guide me on across the battlefield
A life to treasure a warmth beyond everything
Deserving all I ever have to give

Abandonment on you and I will fall too
Yet when Im giving in another part decays

A lonely soul, a life of warmth
Wandering on every path
Poets eyes on greater truth
Trapped in precious little loves

Show me purest tenderness and steal a kiss from my lips
Take me from my insecurity
A life to give to a fire lighting everything
Deserving all I ever have to give

Possibilities, a painful urge to take them all Treasures underneath, a painful greed to gain them all Futures ahead, a painful will to live them all
The angels around me a painful need to love them all
