What's the deal with your dad?
He don't even know my name
Didn't know he'd be back
Didn't know we'd been bad
No one stayed to share the blame

I didn't mean to do that
She won't even come around
Everytime I look back
Didn't realize that
I was better off then now

Mother's came and cried for Abel
Brother Cain survived the century's end (
All the time that I thought was my friend
Be all right till we get back again

Heaven knows you are right
They won't never drag you down
There aint time to lose sight
Getting lost in the light
Is more than never being found

Mother's came and cried for Abel
Brother Cain survived the century's end
All the time that I thought was my friend
Be all right till we get back again

We never could go back
And I could never leave my home
Why'd they change your face like that?
If I'd never seen you
I could always dream
That I'd be better off alone

Mother's came and cried for Abel
Brother Cain survived the century's end
All the time that I thought was my friend
Be all right till we get back again

Be all right till we get back again

Be all right till we get back again
