

The Tragically Hip "Greasy Jungle"

Visit "Greasy Jungle" on MotoLyrics.com greasy jungle metropolis noir easy tangles the easiest so far ah i drove down your road to hazeldean where I tasted your funeral home's sandwiches and coffee i saw your hands melt into one another i saw you grieve and grow care alot about one another i stood at your sink and i felt your warm water i washed your dishes and i looked out your kitchen window where i saw a soulful gymnast melt in the air and shudder just above the snow making moves that just weren't there ah velvet callow with wet hands i turned out the lights and breathing shallow hesitated then went upstairs where i picked up your housecoat dried my hands and touched your hair and just then you awoke you could never really barely care ah greasy jungle metropolis noir

Visit The Tragically Hip page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.