You are a dreamer, The sky is no limit to be reached
You never seem to find and to understand
What you can and can not do
She is a screamer
Whining and nagging is all she ever do
And she don't even sense,
When you're in defence she goes on and on, on you
Two people who don't comprehend the one another
No one can tell how it ends
Blind eyes are you, Blind eyes are we Look in the mirror
How beautiful you are in that new dress
But he doesn't see!
You do not feel that he's lucky to be your man.
He's coming late from work
Gets accused and convicted by you alone
He doesn't have a plan
So he can't defend how he's saving money for you
Two people who don't comprehend the one another
No one can tell how it ends
Two people who don't comprehend the one another
No one will lower defence
We all dreaming of the everlasting story
We believe we're born free
We believe in glory, religion and sacred heart
When lovers fall apart
If we see a man cry, we all turn blind eyes
