"Full Bore"

Crushing blows will change the course
Of destiny and time
There's only one way when all is lost
When you know it's do-or-die:
Force fate to bend and break it's will
Then beat it to untimely demise!
Go full bore or not at all
The weak never survive!

But then again, if life's already so hard
Why make it worse?
Until now, I thought strength was a gift
Though looking back, maybe it's a curse?
The pain of choice is too much to bear
I beg of you, strip it from me!
Take my free will, take it all
I want to pass into obscurity!

Here's to another one
Who's so quick to fold
Just like the others
Praying that I will let them grow old
Frail and decrepit!
But in death's final throe
You'll wonder what could have been...
... here's the answer:
Every real man already knows that:

Crushing blows will change the course
Of destiny and time
There's only one way when all is lost
When you know it's do-or-die:
Force fate to bend and break it's will
Then beat it to untimely demise!
Go full bore or not at all
The weak never survive!

Can it be true? It sounds so harsh!
What about peace and compassion?
If I wait long enough, you'll understand
That we can live as brothers: life's greatest lesson!

But how long can I wait? Not forever
Is that what you expect?
Well fuck it then! I'll pound through stone and steel
Until my hands are around your neck!

Now here's to you!
So sure of yourself
Civility only goes so far
Until there's nothing else
Left besides pain
Burning inside!
Then we go full bore
With everything we've got, ablaze into the fight!
