They sound so loud and clear to me in hopeless distance
But drowned in cynical laughs
Determination waved goodbye and went away
My eyes grew weary
Silenced in a cold and paralyzing stream
Struggled up and pushed under
All they were is gone just like a passing dream
Left me with nothing

I am losing sight

Turned away, silently
Completely out of reach

Abandoned goals in contrast with a different choice
Lost somewhere, found nowhere
Former things have passed away and lost their voice
Unable to respond

I am losing sight

Turned away, silently
Completely out of reach

Maybe all our dreams ascend with the wind
Abandon you, abandon me

Turned away, silently
Completely out of reach
