"Everything Matters"

Your hands are crowded
Filled with the things that you do
The things that take over you
Your thoughts are scattered
Watered down pieces of you
Look what you're going through

Chorus:

How do you sleep with the light on
How do you love with your soul gone
Do you smile when your world is in your hands
Can't you see that when everything matters
Then nothing's what it seems

Your fears are slowly
Taking your mind away
Oh what a price you pay

This life is surely
Subject to change anyway
For reasons we cannot change

Everything you are falls between the lines
Of mediocrity, won't you ever see
All you really need is to love the great divine
And love one another, that's all that matters
