How many years of human history do you know
Ye man ov the earth?

- aeons of tyrants

And two thousand years plague

What is your knowledge, that crowns your head
Ye man ov the earth?

- false prophets orders

Enlightened by lies

And horror of science - mass of materia

To be creatures of light you might never expect

Explain your heads held so high!

All of you, mankind that I once cursed

I challenge your nothing-truth

Against my will to create

Now faster! my legions of ultimate army

Come forth! rise ahead!

Desecrate the knowledge thou hath learneth

'ye are against people, o my chosen!'

I was passing by the people and cities

Everything drowning in daylight

They were running away from the thunderstorm

Taking their shelters in fright overwhelming

And the lightning enlighten the day

With the brightness of thousand suns

They were running away like a vermin

And then the darkness came

Ohh the fire that follows my path

Shall devour your prayers and gods

Shall turn into ash your false nothing-beliefs

Following the path of my past brothers

I was collecting the crumbs of their masks

Smashed by truth's fist

Scattered by scoffers
One day weaved by illusions

Oh, there is one thing that I need to know
And that frightens me so much!
Weren't you
The only thing that I had?!
The only rightful reason for thoughts
And will to create?
