Daddy's little girl is going out tonight
Trying to find the man who's gonna treat here right
And she wonders what is this I desire
Could it be love or just crazy in disguise?

So many smiles come and go
You think you found the one and then you got to let them go
Minutes turn to hours and hours into days
Waiting on this silly thing we call fate

I can't decide and it won't leave my mind
I think I've become love blind

Look at that man with the shot in his hand
Kills the fear, but leaves nothing left for the man
And he wonders what is this I desire
Could it be love or just damn crazy in disguise?

I can't decide and it won't leave my mind
I think I've become love blind

And I wonder where you're dreaming tonight
