Feels like i'm living on borrowed time
Never know what youre thinking
Wish that i held my life
In my own two hands
Seems like nobody even cares
No more names, only numbers
How am i supposed to run
When i dont know my direction

How long do you want me to stay the same
How long do i have to play this game

You could be throwing it all away
Cause theres nothing for you to lose
I'm living it everyday
While you've lookin for something new
Try to remember
Try to remember me

I'm only hearing thses empty words
Lies disguised as promises
Remember just how we were all the same
Do you bother to take the time
To see the name of just your reflection
How am i supposed to grow
When you want let me try to change
How long do i have to play this game

You could be throwing it all away
Cause theres nothing for you to lose
I'm living it everyday
While you've lookin for something new
Try to remember
Try to remember me

And how we used to be before
Something new something more
Now i'm half way out the door
Just look closer
Its not the end of me
Do you care if i fall
Are you there at all

Living on borrowed time
Never know what you're thinking
Wish that I had your life in my hands

You could be throwing it all away
Cause there's nothing for you to lose
I'm living it everyday
While you've lookin for something new
Try to remember
Try to remember me
Try to remember
Try to remember me
