I know you think no one knows you, but you don't know
You think you've got nowhere to go, your not alone
I know they just won't let you be, they push and pray
Don't run away

You can't be anyone else, you've got to be yourself
You can do so much more than survive

There's something your so afraid of, you refuse to see
If you caught a glimpse of what your made of, you would be free
I know you know

You can't be anyone else, you've got to be yourself
You can do so much more than survive, try living alive

You can't be anyone else, you've got to be yourself
You can't be anyone else, you've got to be yourself
There's only one you for all time, trying living alive
Alive, Alive
