Here inside the door I trickle out I melt into nothingness in puddles all around and when it's through, I mold again
I reform to what I was and come back whole again
Then the world comes flooding back in glowing warm with subtle embers
The body drags to find the footings in an ill attempt that soon relapes in full

But we will carry on again
Lifting to the calling of the road
Faltering grasping at the idle hands we hold Faltering grasping at the idle hands go back and forth Until we relay we will carry on again
Focus on the dimming light that grace me we will carry on again
No ones ever ment to go alone

Finding fingers as they offer the hand
To help me stand
Life me from emptiness
The best they can.
Sun flickers in over the world
It says that we never end
We just go on and on and on and on and on

Calling out over empty air
Now that I have found a place I can land
I will hold the flame that they gave me
And it will never blow out again
It will burn on

Spill me out into the world again
Like water in a brimming bowl
I'll flood out and sink into the ground again Rooting out like wire I will grow here standing straight always knowing I will never feel that way again and from my stance now I can move the earth

Sail on quick. Fly past the world. Find me a love.
