These tired eyes are lonely stars
Trying to find some order in the chaos
This is what you doin' to me
In every word, you ever said
You cut right through
Through my chest
I guess you never really left
I guess you never really left

And it's a shame
We ended what could've been golden
I just thought you should know
And everything
That I ever been
You're looking back at me
I guess you never really left
I guess you never really left me

Drag myself onto the floor
Trying to find some chaos in the order
This is what you doin' to me
Simple truth is just denied
You're all I have
I lost the fight
This is what you doin' to me

And it's a shame
We ended what could've been golden
I just thought you should know
And everything
That I ever been
You're looking back at me
I guess you never really left
I guess you never really left me

It's a shame
We ended what could've been golden
Just thought you should know
And everything
That I ever been
You're looking back at me

I guess you never really left
I guess you never really left me

It's a shame
That we ended up what could've been golden
It's a shame
You already left
It's a shame
You already left me
