They began a magical journey to the ancient dragonland For ten days they walked through majestic woods
Their vision ever at hand

The Dragons fly in the blue skies
The montains show their might
Standing in the heart of the land
What a sight !

See the deer, trolls and wolves, lovely creatures they're guardians of this land Such wonder and beauty lives in their hearts to see is to understand

The Dragons fly in the blue skies
The montains show their might
Standing in the heart of the land
What a sight !

The river will lead them to Urien
The mystical home of the gods Now a mass of ruins because of the last war

See the falls of Erloria
The grey montains are near Dark shadows falling Daylight's end is here
And all the creature of darkness
They warn us in the night
In the darkland there is danger
There's evil there to fight
