Stole the keys to my daddy's ride
And I took my baby for a midnight ride
Our hearts where racing as we headed down highway
OOh we didn't have no lovers lane
But that old backroad worked just the same
It wasn't long till I knew deep inside
This must be what their talking about
When you find the one you can't live without
Somewhere deep in the night
I saw the light of a love that got hold of me
And left no dout
This must be what their talking about
I read about it in a magazine
I'd even seen on the movie screen
Heard'em sing about it in a million songs
I never really understood till we lit
That fire that night in the woods
That started a love that still burns just as strong
