She said, "Maybe I do, maybe I don't
And maybe I will, maybe I won't"
A woman just knows how to keep a man guessing

Well, it's a complicated mystery
Been written down through history
But I think it's time that somebody made this confession

Yeah, the trouble with a woman ain't that she's always right
The trouble with a woman is more than what meets the eye
It's easy to love 'em but what's so hard to understand
The trouble with a woman is usually a man

Yeah, she can change your mind just like that She could steal your heart and never look back Make you believe you just can't live without 'em

Oh, it's the way she smiles and holds you close Lets you think you're in control
It ain't no wonder, I'm always thinking about 'em

Yeah, the trouble with a woman ain't that she's always
The trouble with a woman, Lord, it's more than what meets the eye
It's easy to love 'em but what's so hard to understand
The trouble with a woman, well, it's usually a man

Yeah, the trouble with a woman, Lord, it ain't that she's always right
The trouble with a woman, oh, it's more than what
meets the eye
Its easy to love 'em but what's so hard to understand
The trouble with a woman, oh, it's usually a man Yeah boys, it's usually a man
