In the night the strong will survive
All the rest will be eaten alive
Tortured bodies, blood n' guts
I laugh while I fuck 'em up

I know the power of the darkness
My eyes are opening wide
I see through golden astral visions
From a point which was once held inside

Scanning victims in infra-red
I cannot stop until all are dead
Death is glory, life is a game
If you don't play, then your life is a shame

What a rush, pulling hard
Veins carry electric charge
Can't dislodge reality
The sun may shine but you still can't see

All must answer in the end
Crystal palace, wounds will mend
Dark power, evil lord
In the music, power is stored

Black Shadows, friend or foe
Wouldn't you like to know
Wasted bodies, some burnt and some broken
The spirits rise as the words are spoken

Why do I live the night?
Because I feel all right
Why do I like it loud?
Because I'm fuckin' proud, of who I am!

Skulls rising, from the depths
Feel the darkness, take your breath
Black Shadows, what can it mean?
You will know when you've seen what I've seen

I know the power of the darkness

My eyes are opening wide
I see through golden astral vision
From a point which was once held inside

The path is chosen, the deed is done
One for all, and all for one
The moon is rising, the night will come
Getting louder as we all become one

Why do we love the night?
Because we feel all right
Why do we like it loud?
Because we're fuckin' proud of who we are!

Black Shadows, Black Shadows
Black Shadows, what can it mean?
You will know when you've seen what I've seen...
