VERSE:

It feels like just yesterday, you were mine but I let you slip away. I see now all my mistakes but you can't change the past, it's too little too late.
And what I would give to have you here, now you're far away everything seems clear. No more waking up to see your face, now I'm just waking up next to an empty space

CHORUS:

Shoulda Woulda Coulda (That's the way it goes)
Win some you lose some (God only knows)
And I'm sorry that we didn't make it through I will always love you

Shoulda woulda coulda (I've been up and down that road)
Fallin in and outta (God only knows)
I'm sorry for everything I put you through, I will always love you.

VERSE:

I still think of you and me, remembering how things used to be.
I still sometimes play your song, how did a love so right end up so wrong?
If you only knew, where are you now? Wondering what it is that you found
Do you have the same memories as me, is everything the way you thought it would be?

REPEAT CHORUS
