Mine are like the wings of a butterfly

A dusty pair so,

Don't you touch them or I'll never fly anywhere

And the wretches have gone awry I saw them walk on
by

Ever see the wings of a dragonfly?

Paper-thin and cellophane

And quickly broken like the will to live for a mind in pain

And the wretches have gone awry I saw them walk on
by

I cannot change what is and

I cannot make it die

But I can love with all my heart

The wretches gone awry

And the wretches have gone awry I saw them walk on
by

You know I can be rid of my time and the moon will always shine

'Cause he knows I need him to walk this vile and crooked line

And the wretches have gone awry I saw them walk on
by

And you can own all the light in the world and still be blind

And lie and hide away from the people in the world and still be kind

And the wretches have gone awry I saw them walk on
by

I cannot change what is and

I cannot make it die

But I can love with all my heart

The wretches gone awry

And the wretches have gone awry I saw them walk on
by

All I ask is you let me be to live like I do

I'll never be part but someday I will pass on through

And the wretches have gone awry I saw them walk on
by

You can pull the wings from a dragonfly

And you can kill the flight of a butterfly

But you can't harm me for I live with the freedom to decide

And the wretches have gone awry I saw them walk on
by

You cannot change what is and

You cannot make it die

But you can love with all your heart

The wretches gone awry

Say

You cannot change what is and

You cannot make it die

But you can love with all your heart

The wretches gone awry

Yes the wretches have gone awry I saw them walk on by

The End
