What I need tonight is a shoulder to cry on Just hold me 'til the heartache's through with me
Maybe we can build a new love from the ashes
But first I've got to burn some memories

When I'm through fallin' apart, put me together
I'll give you all the pieces of my heart
When I tell you not right now, I don't mean never
Just wait until I'm through fallin' apart

There's something in your eyes and in the way you hold me
That says you want to be more than a friend
I can't wait until that final tear has fallen
So I can give my heart to you to mend

When I'm through fallin' apart, put me together
I'll give you all the pieces of my heart
When I tell you not right now, I don't mean never
Just wait until I'm through fallin' apart
