Stormy, the sea before me
Sado island sparrows cry
See how the sun sets slowly
Soon another day goes by
Call every son and daughter
Stars are shining in the sky

Mountains of sand, the sea breeze
Carried from a distant shore
All of the sparrows scatter
No one comes here any more
Wind chills my soul, I wonder
What the future has in store

Come with me, come with me dear
To that place where olive grows
Sparrows can never fly there
No more sorrows will we know
Say your good-byes tomorrow
Come dry your eyes, it's time to go
