There will be a time
When tomorrow brings us
Closer to an answer
It won't be a dream
If you just imagine living in a world
Where we never have to struggle to be free

There will be a time
When we find forgiveness
When we see each other
In a perfect light
If you just imagine living in a world
Where peace is the only answer that we need

That's when we'll rise higher than the highest mountain That's when we'll reach for stars we never knew were there
And we will love deeper than the deepest oceans
Yes we will dream again, believe again in us

There will be a time
There will be a time
Will tomorrow bring with her kindness
To help us understand
This world is all we have

And will she take us on her wings of courage
Will she be strong enough to fly, to soar

If you just imagine living in a world
And we will never have to struggle to be free

That's when we'll rise higher than the highest mountains
That's when we'll reach for stars we never knew were
there
And we will love deeper than the deepest oceans
And we will dream again, believe again in us

There will be a time
