You dial your lucky number when you're feeling
uptight,
when you're bored on a Sunday, and every Friday
night.
You dial your lucky number, cos life is such a fight.
They're going to bring it over,
and make it all seem alright.

You've got a lucky number,
for everytime you need something to numb you.
You get that nagging hunger,
that's when you dial your lucky number.
You dial your lucky number.
You want that basement kiss.
When you were two years younger, you'd never dreamt
of this.
You're getting pins and needles, they've got you on the
boil,
all wrapped up in the glamour of aluminium foil.

Go to sleep, all your dreams are sweet.
We'll keep the world at bay, 'til you wake up in the morning.
